Best Local Florist Kuhn Flowers

Bob Kuhn founded the biz in 1947, and his wife, Nancy, joined the biz when they married in 1953. The floral shop, originally located on Duval Street downtown, moved to Beach Boulevard in 1957 and expanded to the current two-story store in 1972. No holiday season is complete without a visit to see the annual Christmas window display at the Beaches location, when the windows are packed each year with trees, lights, gifts and an animated Santa, Mrs. Claus and Rudolph. Harry Graham and sons, Andy and Rick, now own the shop, but they say the hard work is mostly behind them. "Bob and Nancy Kuhn spent a whole lot of time and sweat building this business to what it is," says Andy Graham. "We're fortunate. We're not so much building a reputation as maintaining it."

Best Consignment Shop Fifi's

The Devil may wear Prada, but she probably paid full price. Folio Weekly readers don't have to if they skip on over to Fifi's Fine Resale Apparel in Mandarin, Ponte Vedra and San Marco when looking for designer names at bargain prices. The consignment boutique features such notables as Ann Taylor, DKNY and, yes, Prada. "We're offering a more high-end selection," says Donna Suber, district manager. "We won't take it if it looks used and abused." If you see something you like, however, better grab it. Inventory changes frequently.

Best Vintage Clothing Clothing Warehouse

D'ya think the people who made inexpensive cowboy shirts and screen-printed band T-shirts back in the '70s ever dreamed that they'd become such a hot commodity in the '00s? Doubt it, but kids can't seem to get enough of the old, used and weathered clothes their parents probably donated to Goodwill decades ago. Vintage shop Clothing Warehouse has quickly become a neighborhood fixture in Five Points, fulfilling every local hipsters' quality used-clothing needs. A tip: You might want to hold onto that lame-o Justin Timberlake tour shirt — it'll be worth a nice chunk in 2030.

Best Men's Clothing Store Rosenblum's

Established in 1954, Rosenblum's on San Jose Boulevard (and in south Jacksonville Beach) has been helping men hone their perfectly dapper look for a half-century. The much-heralded clothing store features custom suits, shirts and shoes by Jack Victor, Robert Talbott and Otabo, to name a few. According to management, people still travel from as far as New York to sift through Rosenblum's authentic, Italian-made attire. For you, of course, it's just a short trip across town.

Best Women's Clothing Store Stein Mart

Trends come and go, but Stein Mart keeps inventory current by training a keen eye on the runways, specialty stores and boutiques. Fashion-savvy shoppers also appreciate the carefully matched color palette used throughout the entire women's department, so that clothes, shoes and accessories all coordinate. Stein Mart also uses fit models to ensure that a size 8 is really a size 8.
